Thousands of candles can be lit from a single candle
- and the life of the candle will never be shortened.
Happiness never decreases by being shared.

(The Buddha)

As from the enchanting beauty of nature's creation the mesmerising butterflies emerge, so may we become aware of our transformation from humanness to our real divine greatness.

May we rejoice in a glorious and joyful life.

(Sri Sathya Sai Baba)

Happiness is not something you get out of life -
But a natural by-product of putting your best into life

(Eileen Caddy)

To serve the world out of the dynamic union of wisdom and compassion would be to participate most effectively in the preservation of the planet. Masters of all the religious traditions on earth now understand that spiritual training is essential not solely for monks and nuns but for all people, whatever their faith or way of life. The nature of spiritual development is intensely practical, active and effective. The danger we are all in together makes it essential now that we no longer think of spiritual development as a luxury but as a necessity for survival.

As a famous Tibetan teaching says: "When the world is filled with evil, all mishaps should be transformed into the path of enlightenment."

(Sogyal Rinpoche "Glimpse After Glimpse")

And so I have tried to live my life.

To serve mankind, sometimes at great cost, but with great joy and a sense of purpose. Sadly, however, I decided that my September 2005 trip to Vienna and elsewhere would be my last on EU mainland. This decision follows my operation for cancer in 2002, since when it has been very inconvenient to travel. However, I shall continue in UK, handing over teaching gradually, but continuing with administration from home as long as it is necessary.

This picture shows me with Doris Seher (in the pink jacket) who served for 8 years as my first WLI organizer in Vienna and with Beatrice Widder, who has been working with me now for 10 years and is now in charge of all our work in BMSI-Austria, which also covers Germany. Before Doris, my first organizers in Vienna in 1983, during my time in Hans Gerber's center, were Karl and Elisabeth Holcszek. My greatest thanks to all these dear friends.

(William)

Although we may be separated physically, that is not so in consciousness
My thoughts and prayers will be with you. All is One.

(William)

William with Dr Eva Goerdel, Germany, Ulrike Weissenbacher, Brussels and Beatrice Widder, Austria – enjoying a farewell trip on the Danube

My work in Service began early in 1970 under the guidance of Frank and Doris Jones, in Bexhill-on-Sea. In 1975 I started 8 years of training at The College of Psychotherapeutics near Tunbridge Wells with Ronald Beesley, Peter Goldman, Cicely and Jack Allan and others. That property was sold in 2005. The College is now called the Centre of New Directions (see Link 18). In 1983 I started work part-time on EU mainland, and on 1.1.85, full-time. So much has led on from those preparatory days.

On page 1, I have spoken of the work in Vienna, which became the main centre of my final work abroad. However, I owe a great debt to many, many other people over the 23 year period of my work in Austria, Germany and Switzerland, too many to mention by name, but deeply embedded in the nature of my being. You have brought me to where I am. At our highest point, we had 2000 names and addresses; some have moved on; but some 75% are still with us. My thanks to everyone.

What is very noticeable, now that this change has been made, is that whilst the current students have been handed over to my successors, many people from 20 and more years ago are contacting me again – remarkable support from the 'upstairs management'! Very heartening.....

With Beatrice's move to Graz in April 2004, that became the main centre, with Vienna becoming the subsidiary. Many years of work in Graz had previously been organised by Inge Krasser-Mozer, followed by Helene Dietze and Maria Maier. Much work was also done in Linz, organised mainly by Gertrude Morzinger. The early work in Germany was near Munich, but mainly in Augsburg, where Christa Schuierer was organiser for 10 years, taking over the work from Emmi and Julian Webb. From there, organised by Delf and Edith Banz, courses were taught near Stuttgart, plus near Hannover with Dr. Marie-Luisa Kohl. Several years of work was done near Aurau, Switzerland, organised by Gisela and Bernd Sitte. Altogether, work was done in other places, with other organisers, too many to mention here. My thanks to them all for their support and generous hospitality from the many homes I stayed in. Without them, the work would have been much more difficult. Beatrice now continues to expand upon these contacts and places of work, with newer organisers and helpers.

In UK, changes and delegation are also taking place, through Angela Savage and others. My thanks also to those dear friends in the higher worlds who co-ordinate closely with us and lead us ever onwards into new challenges, to bring out our full potential, as we face the unknown future of the Earth and whole Cosmos.

With Love, Light and Blessings to you all, William

Farewell buffet lunch in Marianneum, Vienna

The body is made up of five elements and is bound to perish sooner or later, but the indweller has neither birth nor death. The indweller has no attachment whatsoever and is the eternal witness. Truly speaking the indweller, who is the form of the Atma (True Self) is verily God Himself.

(Telegu poem)

Just as man becomes healthy when all his organs and levels function harmoniously, the body of humanity would attain health and wholeness when all cultures, traditions and religions recognised each other and played their role for their health, peace, wholeness and love of entire humanity.

(Sri Zeiler, Sai Baba Interfaith Conference, 7.05)

*Without thread, there can be no cloth.
Without silver, there can be no plate.
Without clay, pots cannot be made.
Likewise, without divinity,
there can be no world.*

*Without the Creator,
there can be no creation.
The Creator can be compared to thread
and the creation to cloth.*

The Creator embodies all three aspects – gross, subtle and causal.

*When you contemplate on God,
one should transcend the mind.*

*By merely having thread,
one cannot make cloth.*

One has to weave the thread to make cloth.

*Likewise, self-effort and divine grace,
both are essential in order to achieve the goal in Life*
