Annual General Meeting BMS-IHF 23.06.02

This proceeded smoothly and business was completed in less than one hour.

David Tenneson was elected Vice-Chairman.

Angela Savage was elected as Treasurer, following the resignation and retirement of Joan Harper.

Joan has served us faithfully for many years at our annual seminars and Christmas Parties. We thank her very much indeed for all that she has done and for her exemplary book-keeping skills.

Jacqueline Blackwell resigned as Editor and we thank her also for her very special skills in setting up and editing "The Link".

Mrs. Jenny Jakeman has agreed to be our Auditor.

William Lambert was able to attend the whole day, despite his ill health.

He thanks you very much indeed for your strong support, 'Get Well' cards and letters - so many that he regrets that it is not possible to reply individually.

William's Health

The examination of William at Crawley Hospital on 20.08.02 was satisfactory, following his major operation to remove a cancerous tumour on 16.07.02. However, the operation was more extensive than originally planned. There will be the normal regular ongoing hospital check-ups for five years and no negative implications should be attached to these events. William now needs a quiet time for some months to

SUMMER SEMINAR

23rd June

On Saturday morning 22.6, the husband of our scheduled afternoon speaker phoned to say that she had lost her voice! So I spent the morning telephoning other speakers. Eventually I contacted Stanley Messenger of Glastonbury, who was staying for the weekend near East Grinstead. Stanley proved himself to be an excellent speaker on "Paranormal Events & Changes in Consciousness, including Crop Circles"

In the morning session, Alan Carter acquitted himself very competently in his talk on Clinical Hypnotherapy.

Attendance was lower than in previous years and I wish to point out that this annual seminar is arranged especially for the ongoing education of ALL of our members.

David Kingston (DK) was our guide for the day taking us first to the 'Ribbon' within sight of Stonehenge.

We first tried to view the Crop from the vantage point of one of the adjacent barrows but did not see much more than at ground level. If only we could fly! DK indicated that the lower ribbon was the least walked on and so I headed that way. While in an 'open' ribbon I felt an opening of the heart and was close to tears. In the 'outline' I felt a sense of emptiness and had to move on to the lower open ribbon.

On entering this space I had a sharp pain in the top of my head which is a sure sign that a communicator is close. I lay down in the crop and was quickly shown two tall beings dressed in black, the nearest equivalent would be like medieval monks, except that the hoods were close about the head. The faces were obscured and the hands were as if wearing black gloves, an Aikido participant also comes to mind. I got the distinct impression that their true identities were to be kept from me for the time being. The two brought forward what appeared to be a huge book about 4' by 2' with a heavy black cover. The cover was opened revealing many pages inside that were about an inch in depth and rigid - not floppy like paper.

At regular intervals over the page were a series of cut-outs into which had been inserted oblong boxes about 6" x 4" x 1" with a glow of light around each one. I was told these were 'Light Etching Boxes' (LEB). On close inspection the top surface of the box appeared like a thin dull silver metallic substance with a pressing of a shape from beneath. When the LEB was removed from the page I saw that it consisted of a number of layers and each layer seemed like a sort of stencil with cut-outs of different shapes on each level all emitting light. I was told that this was the multi-layered blueprint of a particular crop circle pattern.

I was then shown the process of the manifestation of a crop circle;

Firstly an etheric pyramid is set up over the proposed site. The footprint of the pyramid can be any shape to accommodate the desired pattern. It can be square, oblong, circular, elliptical etc. The purpose of the pyramid is to ensure that no outside radiation can interfere with the process and that the inner energies can be changed to facilitate the formation of the pattern.

When the pyramid is established the desired pattern in the form of the LEB is taken to a high point close to the apex of the pyramid. Above it appears a large ball of light and near to ground level appear several smaller balls of light.

The process is extremely fast and in a matter of tens of seconds the pattern is produced in all its complexity with each level in the crop formed according to the levels in the LEB. When complete the balls of light and the pyramid seem just to fade into another dimension.

I explained what I had been given to me to my fellow passenger on the bus, a young doctor. We stopped for lunch at Avebury and on returning to the bus the doctor presented me with a postcard she had bought there of the Crop Circle that appeared in East Field in Wiltshire on 20th June 2001, which I had not seen before, showing a pyramid with a radiating ball of light behind it. Very similar to what I had been given. After lunch we moved on in fact to East Field. What a coincidence? The Crop Circle this year can be viewed as a Tree or reversed as a Man. Here the energy was quite different. I was conversing in broken English to a young Italian man I had met in the Ribbon Crop Circle in the morning (you meet nice people in Crops!) and we were sharing a joke. There was a man asleep in one of the 'Tree blossoms' snoring loudly, a lady was sitting in one in meditation, two children were running and playing together and we were laughing. It was as if the Crop Circle was saying to us 'This is natural, be natural, do what you normally do'. As we looked around we saw that everyone was doing what they normally did and we sensed a great feeling of joy, peace and happiness. We were very happy to be there, to share the space with that wonderful pattern that I felt was just a reflection of our happy selves. Or was our happiness a reflection of the energy of the Crop?

QUALIFICATION & ORGANISATIONAL NEWS

UK Healers:

The first six monthly newsletter (UK Healers Review) for UK Healers received a warm welcome from individual Healers and Healing Organisations.

UK Healers is the grouping of healing organisations that are working together to protect the public by setting standards that can be readily understood and achieve self-regulation for Spiritual Healers. UK Healers is not an umbrella organisation (ie one which other organisations join and which coordinates their activities) or a membership organisation (ie one which individual healers join). It is a co-operative of healing organisations, all of which retain their separate identities and independence working towards a shared goal. Drafts of all the main standards covering Conduct, Training, Healer Member status, Assessment, Complaints and Discipline have been prepared by sub-groups and are now being reviewed by all organisations involved.

The Prince of Wales's Foundation for Integrated Health is supporting UK Healers financially and helping to find the group an independent chair so that the public can have confidence that the standards are to benefit them and not simply in the healer's interests.

The group aims to have all of the standards settled before the end of 2002. UK Healers provide up-to-date information on their website:

The Prince of Wales's Foundation for Integrated Health:

HRH The Prince of Wales launched a new name for The Foundation of Integrated Medicine on 15th May. It has become The Prince of Wales's Foundation for Integrated Health. His Royal Highness also launched an initiative aimed at increasing access to complementary and integrated healthcare within the NHS. The launch took place at a reception at St James's Palace when the Prince of Wales welcomed chairs and chief executives of NHS primary healthcare trusts and representatives from the major complementary medicine professional organisations. Three spiritual healers representing UK Healers were among the invited guests. During the launch guests heard about the benefits to patients of an integrated approach to healthcare and about progress being made on projects in the first wave of the Integrated Healthcare Collaborative which includes projects on East London, Bristol, Newcastle, Bradford and Wiltshire.
